Hoofbeats is Australia's leading riding, training, horse and land care magazine. It is the publication of choice for horse owners and riders looking for an informative and educational magazine that provides practical advice on all aspects of horse management, including horse and rider training, veterinary, alternative therapy and nutritional advice, clothing, equipment and accessories.

Over the years, Hoofbeats has cemented its place in the equine industry as the magazine providing the most educational and creative content, encompassing every aspect of the equestrian lifestyle.

With the majority of its readers living on a horse property, Hoofbeats caters specifically to their requirements in The Green Horse, an eight page special feature included in every issue. This exclusive guide to property management is an invaluable educational tool as it addresses how to deal with day to day issues affecting all horse property owners such as fencing, reticulation, pasture management, paddock rotation, growing herbs for horses and general advice that suggests how all properties can be managed to their full potential.

The Green Horse also presents a perfect opportunity for advertisers to target readers who spend considerable amounts of money on maintaining and improving their property.

Catering to all horse owners regardless of their particular equestrian pursuits, from top competitors across each of the disciplines through to recreational riders, Hoofbeats provides articles that will become essential reference material and be referred to time and time again. In fact 80% of readers claim it is the information source they look to first for horse care information, providing advertisers with added opportunity for increased brand awareness and long term exposure. The magazine is also regarded as a prominent source of information relating to new products and services, allowing effective communication between advertisers and a wide range of equestrian consumers looking to keep up to date with what is available in the market.

Hoofbeats offers a unique educational approach, featuring contributions from top riders and trainers along with leading industry professionals (media partners with Equine Veterinarians Australia), and is respected and sought after by educational institutions as the ideal equestrian magazine to disseminate their latest research and findings. It is written and presented in a useable, practical style, allowing readers to enhance their skills and make the most of their equestrian pursuits.

Published in Australia for the last 31 years, Hoofbeats remains committed to being the magazine of choice for more Australian horse owners and riders who consider it worthy of keeping for the long term. It is the clear market leader in educational equestrian publishing, allowing advertisers to reach a captive audience of equestrian enthusiasts and consumers with a diverse range of equestrian interests.

Purchased predominantly by women, the Hoofbeats reader places a high priority on enjoying their time with their horses and continually improving their knowledge and skills. Contributions for articles are sourced from those at the top of their field and written in a style that experienced riders will find of benefit, in addition to helping those looking to learn and improve. A significant number of male readers are the partners of those who purchase the magazine - some of whom also ride, plus there are many male readers that indicate they primarily read The Green Horse to assist in managing and maintaining their property.

Just over 75% of Hoofbeats readers are members of an Equine Association. These associations include the Equestrian Australia (EA), Breed Societies, Adult Riding Clubs and Pony Club.
